SAN DIEGO TRAILS CONFERENCE

by Marshall Fausold

The First Annual International Trails and Greenways Conference was held in San Diego on January 28-31. John Hooton and I attended for the Montour Trail, and I wore a second hat as one of two delegates from the Allegheny Trail Alliance.

The conference was attended by over 700 delegates from most states and about ten countries, including Pittsburgh's own Mayor Murphy. I was very impressed by the quality of the sessions. They were generally held four at a time, so there was always one, and sometimes several, of great interest. The "expo" hall had many booths of contractors, design firms and state and federal agencies, and was always filled with attendees. On Thursday and Friday afternoons there were field trips to a variety of trails in San Diego County, from rollerblade to horseback. "El Nino" rained a bit on some of these but didn't stop them.

The enthusiasm generated by associating with so many trail people from all over is great. The opportunity to exchange experience and ideas is invaluable. Invaluable too is the networking opportunity such a gathering affords. I had breakfast with an official from Calgary, Alberta, city parks. He mentioned that they were trying to develop a trail to provide access to their airport. I was able to put him in touch with an old friend of mine, a cyclist, who has just moved to Calgary to manage the expansion of the airport!

The whole conference experience was one I wish all of our members could share.

And, guess what! The Second Annual Trails and Greenways Conference will be held June 22-26, 1999 in... PITTSBURGH. Although the arrangements and scheduling will be handled by the National and Pennsylvania Rails-to-Trails Conservancies, all the trail groups in the area will be asked to lead field trips to show off their trails, help as "gofers", and assist the out-of-town folk. There should be plenty of time to attend sessions and functions, though, and I hope everyone will. You will find it worth your while.

WATERWAYS ON THE LIST

Three Western Pennsylvania waterways - Upper Mahoning Creek, the Clarion River and a segment of the Monongahela River - have been added to the Pennsylvania Rivers Conservancy.

The Conservancy registry is a state listing that recognizes local river initiatives and helps protect the special qualities of Pennsylvania rivers and streams. To be placed on the registry, a waterway must have a conservation plan developed through a public participation process.

The Montour Trail Council is an all volunteer organization founded in 1989 to convert the abandoned Montour Railroad right of way and the abandoned Peters Creek Branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad into a fifty-five mile recreational trail for non-motorized activity regardless of physical ability or financial wherewithal.

TRAIL TALK
from the Editor’s Desk

The brainchild of Tim Killmeyer, Pennies for your Trail day is a major fund-raiser for the Moon/Robinson Trail Section. The money donated is used to buy much needed equipment and supplies for maintaining the Trail in this area.

As a member of Moon/Robinson’s Friends of the Trail, I had the privilege of working my first “Penny Day” last year. Under the watchful eye of organizer, Dean Arlett, nothing was left to chance. He made sure that everyone knew what to do and where to be. He had a rare gift for making the event a lot of fun. Last year’s weather was enough to turn anyone off - it was cold and rained all day. But Dean had us in great spirits within no time.

So, if you are in the neighborhood on Saturday, May 9th, bring your pennies to the Moon/Rob. Trail section. We’ll be glad to take them off your hands.
Remember, “a little bit goes a long way!”

Bridge Reconstruction to Disrupt Portion of Cecil Section

by Dennis Sims

Reconstruction of the southbound lanes of I-79 between Bridgeville and Southpointe this summer will also include complete reconstruction of the bridge over the Montour Trail at McPherson Run and Cecil-Henderson Road. During this reconstruction, the Trail will be temporarily relocated to give construction crews room to remove the pier that is adjacent to the Trail. The Trail will be closed when crews are working overhead to remove the beams. Signs are in place at the Hendersonville and Kurnick (National) Trail entrances alerting you to the construction and the temporary Trail closures. Protective fencing is in place separating the Trail from the work area. Next summer, the northbound bridge will receive the same treatment. Expect the Trail to be open evenings and weekends.
...and the PREZ sez...

Often the question is asked, “What are the FRIENDS OF THE TRAIL?” The answer is clear and lengthy, but here goes...

FRIENDS support the development of the Trail by: planning, fund raising, obtaining permits, obtaining or providing engineering services, doing land surveys, and participating in various construction activities.

FRIENDS maintain the Trail by: inspections, collecting and disposing of litter, patching and/or repairing Trail surface, removing obstacles - i.e. trees, mud slides, cutting of weeds and overgrowth, and preventing erosion.

FRIENDS repair the Trail by: fixing fences, repairing eroded spots, digging drainage ditches, and cleaning drainage ditches.

FRIENDS protect the Trail by: discouraging trespassing of motorized vehicles, discouraging littering, encouraging pet owners to clean their pets’ waste, and reporting to Trail Board members or local police unacceptable or unusual behavior.

FRIENDS promote the Trail by: distributing brochures and other Trail literature, publicizing Trail features and events, recruiting volunteers and new FRIENDS, and representing the Trail at public meetings and community events.

No FRIENDS does all these things. Most FRIENDS do one or more. Together the FRIENDS do it all.

We have met the FRIENDS and they are us.

SIXTH GRADERS HIT THE TRAIL

by Barb McNally, 6th Grade teacher, David E. Williams Middle School

John Wasco, a Montour High School teacher, wrote an inter-disciplinary learning unit to introduce middle schoolers to the Montour Trail. In the spring of 1997 the sixth grade teachers at David E. Williams Middle School in the Montour school district agreed to utilize the program to introduce the students to the past, present and future uses of the Trail, and the students enthusiastically responded to the challenge.

Bill Metzger, Trail photographer, presented a slide show to the 6th graders in an introductory assembly. The students were then given a list of acceptable research projects. Possible topics included the history of the Montour Railroad, the coal industry in Western Pennsylvania, a study of trail use, a fitness project involving walking, biking or skiing on the Trail, identification of plants and wildlife indigenous to the Trail area, etc.

After three weeks for library and outside research, interviews and work on putting their projects together, the students began the process of videotaping their projects. Our 6th graders' efforts were demonstrated many times over by the exceptional quality of their projects. We viewed safety and first aid manuals for the Trail, photographs of flora and fauna, recipe books for healthy trail food, Montour Trail board games, outstanding histories of the region and studies of the locomotives that traveled the railroad. Students presented tee-shirts, collages, time lines, plays, rock collections and charts of trail use.

An impressive hand designed and handmade quilt depicting activities and sights along the Trail was the work of Jayme Farrelly and Jackie Gasior.

The culminating activity for the Montour Trail Unit was to take the entire class of 250 sixth grade students to walk the Montour Trail. The project was successful in arousing the students' and their families' interest in enjoying the benefits of the Trail.

Other wishing to use the Montour Trail Learning Unit should contact John Wasco at Montour High School.

MTC TRAIL BOOTH IN OAKDALE
by John Peter Merther

On Saturday March 28, 1998, the Montour Trail Council, along with 30 other community groups, was at the Oakdale Community Center for an Activities Awareness Day from 1-4 pm. As usual we had the Montour Trail story boards showing what has been done on the Trail, along with what is being planned for the future.

Although it was a very nice day, attendance was low. However, Jack Swisher and I managed to convey the intricacies of the Trail both past and present to a few interested passers-by.

We figured that the low turnout was due to everyone being on the Trail enjoying the great weather.

GOOD-BYE, NANCY

The Montour Trail Council bids a fond farewell this Spring to one of their longtime members, Nancy Reed.

A charter member, Nancy served on the MTC board for over five years, also serving as Treasurer for the last two years. Her hard work and dedication will be greatly missed!

We wish Nancy and her husband, Dave, all our best and much happiness as they make their new home in Canandaigua, New York.

Yes, I want to help build the Montour Trail!

WATERSHED MEETING GENERATES VISION FOR MONTOUR RUN VALLEY

Airport-area residents took part in a community visioning process at the first of four planned public meetings of the Montour Run Watershed Planning Project on February 18. The attendees placed high value on:

* open space and outdoor recreation opportunities;
* mixed-use communities with an atmosphere found in villages such as Imperial and Coraopolis;
* "watershed-friendly" zoning;
* bolstering of the local economy through tourism opportunities in the Watershed.

The attendees supported the creation of a multi-municipal master plan that includes higher standards for development. They expressed concern over:

* the continuation of urban sprawl;
* development planning that does not adequately address impacts on community life;
* the lack of proactive municipal efforts to conserve land;
* a recent proposal for an expressway through the Montour Run Valley.

The project consulting team, led by KCI Technologies, Inc., will incorporate these results into the project's end product, which will be a River Conservation and Land Use Plan for Montour Run. The next public meeting, scheduled for September, will be a presentation of the team's preliminary findings for this plan.

WORKERS WEED OUT BETHEL PARK TRAIL

PLANNERS SAY TRAIL WILL ULTIMATELY CONNECT CORAOPOLIS WITH WASHINGTON, D.C.

by Susan K. Schmeichel

excerpts from Tribune-Review

Through overgrown weeds and garbage, a group of volunteers spend their weekends trailblazing in Bethel Park.

The group, Friends of the Bethel Park Montour Trail, is clearing a 2.1 mile spur of the trail, which officials say will ultimately stretch from Coraopolis to Washington, D.C.

"Bethel Park: Gateway to our nation's capital," said Peter Kohnke, president of the group.

The Bethel Park spur will extend from the Bethel Park-Peters Township line, across Limestone Drive and Clifton Road, to Logan Road.

Another portion of the main trail "nips Bethel Park near Lindenbrook," Kohnke said.

Clearing the spur along the former Montour Railroad line has been Kohnke's goal since becoming involved with the Montour Trail Council in 1989.

The group, which became an official entity last month, received a recreational easement from the property owner, Allegheny Power Co., in August.

The group holds work parties on the second and fourth Saturdays of every month. To date, volunteers have cleared 50 tons of debris from a half-mile section of trail.

"It's been a real lesson in 'garbology,'" said Kohnke.

The debris has included an abandoned car and an old street sign.

The trailblazers have also had to contend with tree clippings, dirt mounds and yard waste.

The group is hoping the dumping will stop now that it has notified residents of its project.

After the debris is cleared the group plans to spend about $250,000 to fill and smooth the trail.

Although the Montour Trail Council has funding sources, area groups must rely on municipal funding, grants and donations.

The municipality has awarded the group $10,000, and the group has applied for a $125,000 Keystone grant, said Kohnke.

What it needs now is volunteers — and not just to wield weed whackers and axes, he added.

The group is seeking people for all aspects of its organization. Interested individuals can contact Kohnke at (412) 854-1835.
The RTC says that while rail-trails have been embraced in recent years as a major economic development tool for towns and cities, the “Rail-Trails and Safe Communities” study provides the first national scope data suggesting that rail-trails are equally attractive as anti-crime measures.

For the full text of the study, contact Erin Mantz at 703-276-1116 or visit the Rails-to-Trails Conservancy web site at www.railtrails.org. Write the conservancy at 1100 17th St., NW, 10th Floor, Washington, D.C. 20036.

The fourth annual “PENNIES FOR YOUR TRAIL” drive is just days away. Gather all your pennies together and take them to the Moon/Robinson section of the Trail to be weighed and recorded on Saturday, May 9.

Volunteers will be stationed at Groveton (mile 0), and also Park Manor Blvd. between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. to collect and weigh your pennies. (All other coinage or bills will also be gratefully accepted.)

Once again, Chairman, Dean Arlett, has solicited many wonderful prizes from local businesses to be given to those who bring in the most money.

So, don’t miss out! Get in on the fun! Bring those pennies to the Trail and maybe you’ll win yourself a prize.

Mark these dates on your calendar

This is to alert everyone that in September, the MTC sponsors two major fundraising events over two consecutive weekends. The first of which is the Allegheny County Rib Cook-Off over the Labor Day weekend, lasting 4 days from Friday, Sept. 4 thru Monday, Sept. 7. The second event is the IKEA 1/2 Marathon 5K Run/Walk occurring the following weekend on Saturday, Sept. 12.

Both events bring in much needed money for the Trail and require MANY volunteers. Won’t you please try to set aside a couple of hours for your Trail? Call your friends and volunteer together.

You’ll be guaranteed a good time - almost as good as when you’re on the Trail!
RAIL-TRAILS
RECEIVE BAD RAP,
NEW REPORT SAYS
by Rex Rutkoski, excerpts from News Record

The local fitness community has just received powerful ammunition in fighting the good fight for rail-trails.

A just released national report finds that rail-trails are one of the safest places to be in American communities, for trail users and nearby property owners.

The information comes in "Rail-TRails and Safe Communities," a new study from the Rails-to-Trails Conservancy (RTC) in cooperation with the National Park Service Rivers, Trails and Conservation Assistance Program. The report conducted in 1995-1996, is a major look at crime on or near 372 rail-trails covering 7,000 miles in 38 states.

"Our new study with the National Park Service once and for all dispenses of the myth that rail-trails are somehow a threat to nearby property owners and the people who use them," says David Burwell, RTC president.

While no place can be crime-free, rail-trails are one of the safest places to be in any community Burwell says.

RTC also has announced the launch of Trailblazers Against Crime, a new coalition effort to spread the word about the safety benefits of rail-trails and to help create broader awareness of innovative community policing techniques, such as bike patrols. (For information on the coalition, contact Hugh Morris at 202-974-5110.)

"Community leaders across America can now proceed confidently knowing that they can fight crime, beautify their communities and improve the quality of life by reclaiming abandoned rail corridors and making them safe places for our families," Burwell says.

Crime on rail-trails and nearby properties was reported to be virtually undetectable in the study.

Tom Ross, assistant director for the Park Service Assistance program, says it is important from a public policy standpoint to have such data to present to local community officials. It can be used when addressing any concerns about crimes involving adjacent properties and trail-users.

There are 980 rail-trails covering about 10,000 miles across the United States. Another 1,200 rail-trail projects spanning over 18,000 miles are on the drawing boards.
