Piney Fork Road Project Complete by Tom Prezel

The Piney Fork Project in South Park Township is complete adding another 0.4 mile to the main line of the Montour Trail.

The trail site is on the original Pennsylvania RR right-of-way that was abandoned in the late 1950s. South Park Township had eventually acquired the railroad property. South Park Township agreed to donate the property to the MTC in 2010. After much legal and surveying work, the property transfer was finalized in 2014.

MTC applied for a grant from PA DCNR for design and construction of the project in April of 2014; it was awarded to MTC later that year. Grant beginning date was April 21, 2015. Some early work to clear the property was performed by volunteers in 2016. Engineering work by Mackin Engineering was performed in 2016-2019 to design the trail, obtain the necessary permits, and put the project out to bid for construction.

Construction work was started by MSB Excavating, LLC on October 16, 2019. The concrete pedestals for the bridge were poured, and a wall near the bridge was completed before the winter shutdown on December 4, 2019. After the winter and Covid-19 shutdowns, construction work resumed on May 18, 2020.

Inside this issue:

The bridge was delivered and installed on its pedestals on May 19, 2020. Bridge back walls were then formed up, and concrete was poured on May 26. The 0.4-mile long trail, supporting walls, and drainage systems were constructed from June through August 2020. The short asphalt sections were laid on August 27 and 30 (above left). The trail was limestone surfaced, with some volunteer help, on September 4.

All fencing and signs were completed by a subcontractor on September 9. After dressing the edges and ditches of the trail, seeding and mulching was applied on September 17 and the Trail was opened for the public to use and enjoy.

A soft opening of the trail section was held on October 28, 2020 with a limited group of invitees because of Covid-19 concerns (see above right). The following organizations were given special thanks for their contributions to the project by the Project Manager, Tom Prezel: South Park Township – donation of property, Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources – grant, MSB Excavating, LLC – construction, Mackin Engineering – engineering design and support, Montour Trail Council Volunteers – early work and construction support, and ARAD and REI – supporting grants.
The Montour Trail Council is an all-volunteer organization founded in 1989 to convert the abandoned Montour Railroad right of way and the abandoned Peters Creek Branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad into a 55 mile recreational trail for non-motorized activity regardless of physical ability or financial wherewithal.

Not that this year everyone in Montour has not been working hard; 2020 was one of the most productive and fruitful years ever, from a number of standpoints. One of which is to recognize that, in the middle of the pandemic and everything else, to not forget that a part of the work of today is to plan for tomorrow. I can tell you, with much appreciation for those working on the aspects of planning, that the Montour organization has not forgotten.

Thank you all for your commitment and determination for the Montour Trail. Enjoy your upcoming Holidays!

Nothing Around Here Happens in a Vacuum: The Tour the Montour Saga

The Tour the Montour Committee began planning for the 2020 18th annual event last February. Yes, it truly takes that long to plan the Tour, our signature event that raises funds for Trail maintenance. We started to seek new and returning sponsors. We set the date and started to create the annual T-shirt design. March came in like a lion, bringing the pandemic and “self-quarantining” with it.

The planning committee switched to Zoom meetings, which worked well for the objectives we needed to accomplish. At that time, we did not think that the Tour, scheduled for September, would be affected. However, in late spring the realization that the pandemic was not to be short-lived became painfully apparent. We regretfully cancelled the actual Tour. The Committee entertained and accepted the idea of a virtual Tour, The t-shirt design reflected the unusual 2020 environment.

In the meantime, so many new users discovered the Trail, and usage went way up. Our wonderful volunteers stepped up their care of the Trail. The Membership and Community Outreach Committee commissioned new member-recruitment signs, which emphasized that the Council is all-volunteer organization and encouraged users to become members or donate. The website was updated to address this.

Registration for the virtual Tour was entirely on line. We were unsure if people would learn about it. Amazingly, we had 25 people sign up at first. But the number kept increasing all the way to 270 registrations! So many people wanted to support the Montour Trail that provided outside recreation in a dark time.

We are grateful to our sponsors who have continued to support us even in these strange times. We thank FedEx, Advanced Orthopaedics and Rehabilitation, Pittsburgh International Airport, Eaton, Bob and Patsy Brown, IntegraCare, Skeptic Distillery, Range Resources. Davan, and MarkWest. We have also received support from AeroTech Designs, Allegheny Health Network, Franklin Heights Medical Association, Highmark BC/BS, MCC International, Seven Springs, Sweetwater Bikes and UBS Financial Services.

We thank all of you for your virtual rides and continuing support. We are so happy to welcome new and renewing members. We all hope the 19th Annual Tour the Montour will return to its normal venue and practices. It is planned for September 25, 2021. See you there!

2020 Annual Meeting: What a Year!
By Fran Hensler

The MTC annual meeting was a virtual event, with a quorum+ of members participating by Zoom. Not as much fun as an in-person social gathering, but checked off the to-do list, just the same. Major business consisted of announcing those nominees elected to the Board for 2021–23: second consecutive term for Mark Modispacher, David Oyler and Tom Prezel; first term for Fran Hensler, Dave Jackel and Julian Wolfe. Our financial position remains strong, and membership revenue may reach $100,000 for the first time ever, an incredible milestone.

To call 2020 unprecedented doesn’t get at the disruption, determination and discovery we’ve undergone since being hit by the coronavirus pandemic. Fortunately, state-wide stay-at-home orders allowed outdoor activity, which encouraged a record number of new people to use the Montour Trail … which led to lots of new MTC members and families (abetted by trailhead signs that encouraged users to support the organization). We took measures to keep Trail users as safe as possible, urging social distancing via trailside signs and the website, closing then re-opening portable toilets with a doubled-up sanitation schedule, and postponing or staging signature events virtually — including Tour the Montour.

Friends group volunteers never faltered, continuing their demanding schedule of regular maintenance and trailside improvements. The unusually high foot/wheel traffic forced the Trail resurfacing crew into action in Cecil, Peters Township and Fort Cherry. A half-mile of new mainline trail was installed in South Park Township, which reduced the Trail gap; a new bridge was completed across Piney Fork Creek; remediation work was started to repair two threatening water-scour areas; and behind-the-scenes work was accomplished to build two missing links: one through the South Park mini-storage facility and the other across the eastern end of Summit Station, scheduled for completion by the end of 2021. The mile-zero extension into Coraopolis is under way. Work on the western corridor garage’s interior is almost complete. Despite the hurdles that the pandemic threw our way, it was a busy season!

The popularity of the Montour Trail as an important amenity/selling point is that two residential developments, Summit Station in South Park Township and McConnell Trails in Cecil, are off to a strong start. Looking ahead, our biggest challenge is the major gap posed by Route 51 in Jefferson Hills. We are looking at both short- and long-term solutions. Other challenges include finding volunteers, addressing a plethora of maintenance issues, raising funding and community support, mentoring future leaders, and managing the whole of the Montour Trail Council as effectively and fruitfully as possible into the future.
Equitrans Midstream Gives Back to the Trail by Dennis Sims

The Cecil Friends were contacted by Beth Zak of Equitrans Midstream located in Southpointe in late August about a volunteer day on the Trail. The employees have been working from home and were looking for a day out. Many of the workers are frequent trail users and getting outside helping the CFOMT would be great for morale. So, on Wednesday, September 23, about 30 employees armed with the necessary tools showed up at the Kurnick trailhead ready to work. The workers were divided up into three groups. One group led by Adele Karabinos cleaned up the Tandem Connection area, a second group led by Julian Wolfe improved the sight distance at Ridgewood Drive and Cowden Road. The remainder of the group led by Mary Ellen McKenna and Dennis Sims tidied up the Kurnick area by doing weeding, staining the furniture and trimming low hanging branches among other things. They worked for about two hours performing the much needed work. We thank them for their service and they plan on returning in the spring.

The National Tunnel Gets Winter-proofed by Dennis Sims

While the weather was good, volunteers closed the doors and installed the vestibules at the National Tunnel on Thursday, November 19. The vestibules allow the tunnel to remain available for transit during the winter months. The two sets of vinyl strips in the vestibules keep the relative natural warmth from the ground inside the tunnel detering the formation of ice. Temperatures have remained in the 40s even on the coldest day when temps have fallen below zero.

The doors will reopen, probably in late March when the danger of sustained cold is past. Please dismount from your bike when you enter the tunnel and be careful of trail users who may be exiting the tunnel.

Here are some scenes from this year’s work party closing the east portal. There were six volunteers performing the work. The procedure is the same for the west portal. Bill Capp and his construction party performed the work. It takes about 2 hours to perform the work at each portal.
Jewell Siding by Bryan Seip - Montour Railroad Historical Society

The coal hauled by the Montour Railroad was known as black diamonds, but there was also another jewel on the railroad. Jewell Siding ran along the main line in the area on either side of Clifton Road near Al’s Café in Bethel Park.

Built during the 1914 Mifflin Extension project, the siding was named for a local landowner, N. Jewell, whose property was bisected by the railroad. The double-ended siding ran for 4,100 feet and could hold 82 cars. The west end switch was near the present Limestone Drive, behind the Vision Center office. The siding crossed over Clifton Road (listed as Jewell Road on some old maps) and ended at the east switch, across from the current site of George Washington School. The bridge over Clifton Road was actually two separate spans placed side-by-side, one carrying the main line and the other the siding track.

In the 1950’s, the west end of the siding was removed, including the rails across the bridge, although the bridge span itself was left in place. The east end became a 1,000 foot spur that could hold 20 cars, with a steel bumper post installed near Clifton Road.

In earlier days, across from the bumper post location was a short commercial spur that ran along what is now the parking lot at Al’s Café and Rite Aid. This was an open “team track”, where a wagon with a team of horses or a truck could be backed up to a rail car to unload merchandise.

At the end of 1980, railroad operations ended in this area and the rails were removed a few years later, although the steel bridge spans were left in place.

In 1989, Clifton Road was realigned to improve the intersection with McMurray Road. The two bridge spans and the east side concrete abutment were removed. The west side abutment was left in place as a gas line and utilities ran underground at its base.

When the Montour Trail was constructed on the old railroad right-of-way, the trail led down ramps to an at-grade crossing of Clifton Road. In September, 2011, the new 210 foot J. R. Taylor Memorial Bridge was constructed by Century Steel Erectors to carry the trail over Clifton Road.

Tim Sposato grew up in the area, watching and riding Montour trains as a teenager in the early '70's. He hired on with the railroad after his high school graduation and shares some thoughts of Jewell.

Jewell Siding and Al’s Café. Like bread & butter, they fit together well. The nights of waiting for the eastbound train in an old automobile behind Al’s, watching the patrons coming out at closing time, was always entertaining. This helped pass the time as we waited for “our train” to arrive. Al’s was more of a local type lounge in the 1970’s & 80’s. Many Montour men made stops here for the great fish sandwiches and beverages.

We loved hearing the train laboring upgrade around 2:00am. There was the thrill of seeing the headlight illuminate the light fog or the tree tops long before we saw the source. By this time we had made our way to the switch, our lanterns lit. It helped that we had also called the dispatcher earlier, asking if a Coal Run had been called for the Mifflin Turn. If the reply was “yes” we would inform him that we would check the switch to ensure it was lined for the train’s movement. To this day, I believe the dispatcher would casually mention this to the train crew, thus allowing the “flag stop” to occur.
